FOREWORD

Sacramento State, as one of the links in the chain of the California State College system, has a special purpose to fulfill. For we are the 'home' college, so to speak, and because of our location in the capital city, our standards and goals must be set particularly high. The scope of our activities, both academic and social, already reflect on many persons as an example for other colleges to follow. Our development in the classroom, as each semester progresses, and our preparation for future work help us gain thoughtful minds and maturity. But we also gain in knowledge of leadership and friendship through student government, clubs, athletics, fine arts, general activities and publications. All of these make up our memories of college life and Sacramento State, and here, as a partial record of these things, is the 1954 Statesman.

Ground is broken for the new education building in early February.

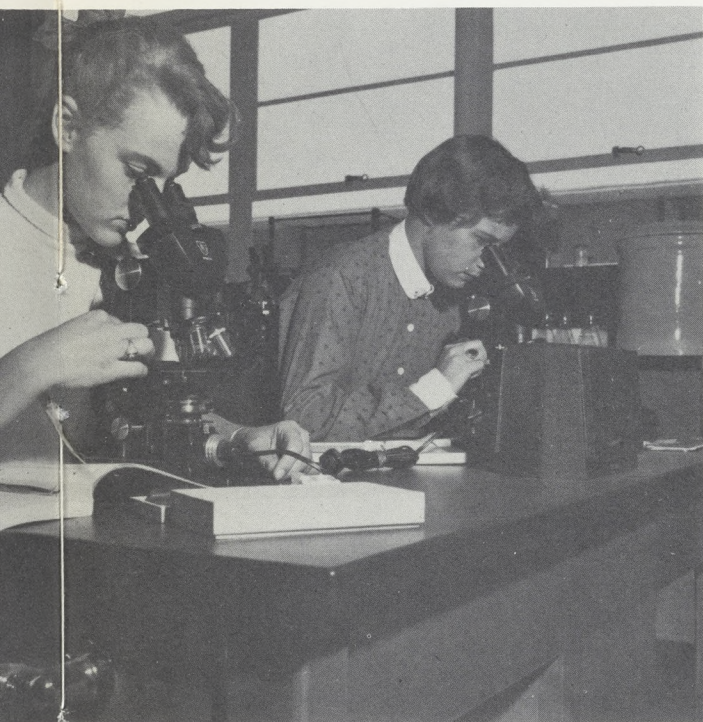

A well-worn practice target is a landmark on the physical education field.

The study of science opens up new fields of interest for many SSC students.

ON CAMPUS

The soph dance, Sweetheart Serenade, provided music and entertainment and celebrated the beginning of the second year for SSC on its new campus.

One of the busiest spots on campus is the library reading room.

Work began in February on the new education building.

An aerial shot of the campus shows how much the campus has improved since its opening in February, 1953.

GOVERNOR GOODWIN J. KNIGHT

State of California
GOVERNOR'S OFFICE
SACRAMENTO

March 30, 1954

I am pleased to have this opportunity to extend greetings to the faculty and students of Sacramento State College.

You have a fine new campus and physical plant which provide the most modern facilities for higher education. Furthermore, its very location provides you with basic traditions which are so important to the spirit of any college.

The American River is an important link between our State's historic past and the present. It has had a tremendous effect upon the early and rapid development of California. Your campus is located in a splendid progressive city--the Capital of our great State--with a rich and vigorous heritage; with a bright and promising future. Such a setting for your academic work must be truly inspiring.

To meet the challenge and to realize the promise this modern age offers, we must strive constantly for new knowledge and new techniques. Our State has no more important function than to provide the finest possible educational facilities for its young people.

All Californians should have the opportunity to acquire the education which will help them attain their proper place in our complex society. College training is no longer a luxury for a privileged few. It is rapidly becoming a necessity for a useful and well-adjusted life.

The future of California rests in the hands of her young men and women. I hope the knowledge and training you are receiving at Sacramento State College will make your life finer, fuller and more productive as you prepare to assume the responsibilities of constructive citizenship in this great Republic of ours.

Goodwin J. Knight
Governor

PRESIDENT GUY WEST

Our president, Dr. West, received his degrees from New Mexico Western College, University of Colorado and the University of California. He has also attended Columbia, Arizona and Texas Universities. During his many years in the field of education he has served as high school teacher, principal, and has held several key positions with New Mexico Western College and Chico State College. He is a member of Kappa Delta Pi Honor Society, Phi Delta Kappa and the State Committee on College Accreditation. He is past president of the Rotary Club and the Northern California Educational Research Association. Dr. West was made president of Sacramento State College upon its founding in 1947.

STUDENT GOVERNMENT

ASSSC

EXECUTIVE COUNCIL

The executive council had its first meetings in May of 1953, and worked steadily on student business from then until June, 1954. Under the leadership of Gene Jensen, the group sponsored the student handbook, organized opinion poles on fraternities and sororities, saw Buzz Club changed to Rally Committee, voted to accept football for SSC and adopted the new constitution, had official ASSSC stationery printed, and decided (peacefully) on the year's budget. Carolyn Hauge resigned as vice-president in January to accept a full time teaching position, and soph representative Lenore Vasche stepped into the position. Sponsors for the group included Dr. Bailey, Dr. Gage, and Dr. Christie.

Haystacks, Cornstalks, black cats, and pumpkins — these ingredients blended together by the senior class produced "Witches Wobble" their informal Halloween dance. This active class kept up its liveliness with many other events; in March they gave all SSC card sharks an opportunity to "deal from the bottom of the deck" at a card party in the cafeteria. Completing the year was the Senior Ball held in the Lanai, following graduation.

SOPHOMORES

The sophomore class, new to the SSC campus, entered actively into school affairs. Co-operating with the freshman class they presented the Frosh-Soph Scramble which featured an egg toss, sack race, and a tug-of-war. After being defeated in the latter event, the class, deciding it was not athletically inclined, devoted its time to other projects. Outstanding among these was "Sweetheart Serenade", their Valentine dance.

This year SSCRIBE Magazine became an official publication of the Sacramento State College Student Association. Four magazines were published under the editorship of Kaylaine Miller. Associate Editor, Bill Lusk, will take over the job with its responsibilities next fall.

The staff has been investigating the possibilities of having the magazine printed and they feel if the student association approves a budget for the SSCRIBE next year, the circulation will increase due to a better-looking format.

Many new writers have been gained for SSCRIBE this year. Through the Short Story class, they have built up a backlog of stories. And next fall workers on the magazine may get credit, similar to the Journalism Lab for Hornet and Statesman, in the Literary Workshop.

Tom Brian goes up for a reverse layup against the Lewis and Clark Pioneers.

Hall Wolf's Hornets rose to great heights at times, defeating such big time opponents as Washington State and San Jose State, but they also passed up a few they should have won easily.

The season marked the entrance of the Hornets into the Far Western conference.

Led by center Tom Brian, the Hornets compiled a record of 11 wins and 10 losses this year.

Brian topped the team's scorers with 222 points, nosing out Chris Georgis, who scored 210. In addition to his point making, Brian, a senior, played very smoothly around the post.

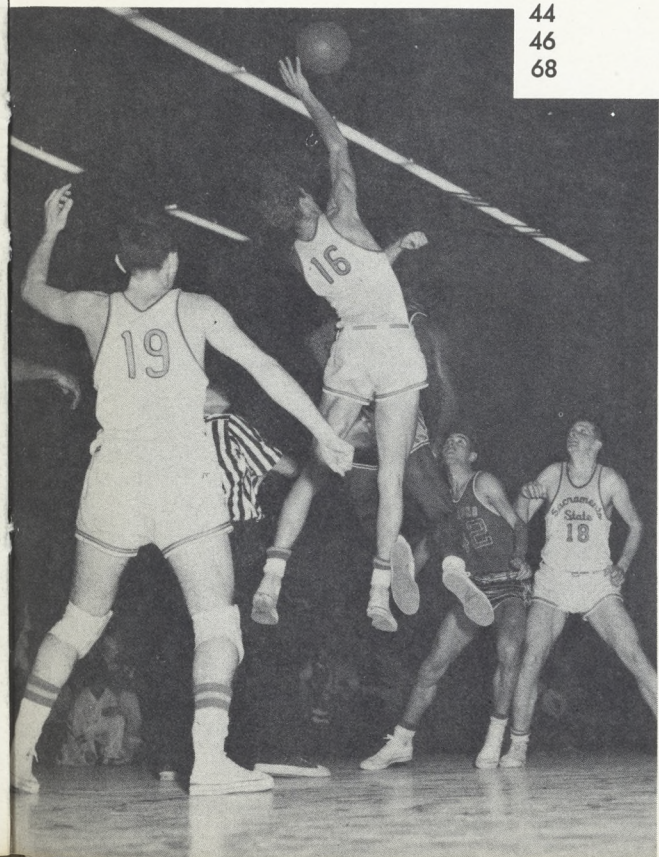

A bit of action under the basket in the contest between the Hornets and the Alumni is shown above.

Tom Brian attempts to get a jump shot away over Al McFayden's guard in the Hornet-Alumni game.

Four Hornets and three Pioneers from Lewis and Clark battle for the elusive basketball.

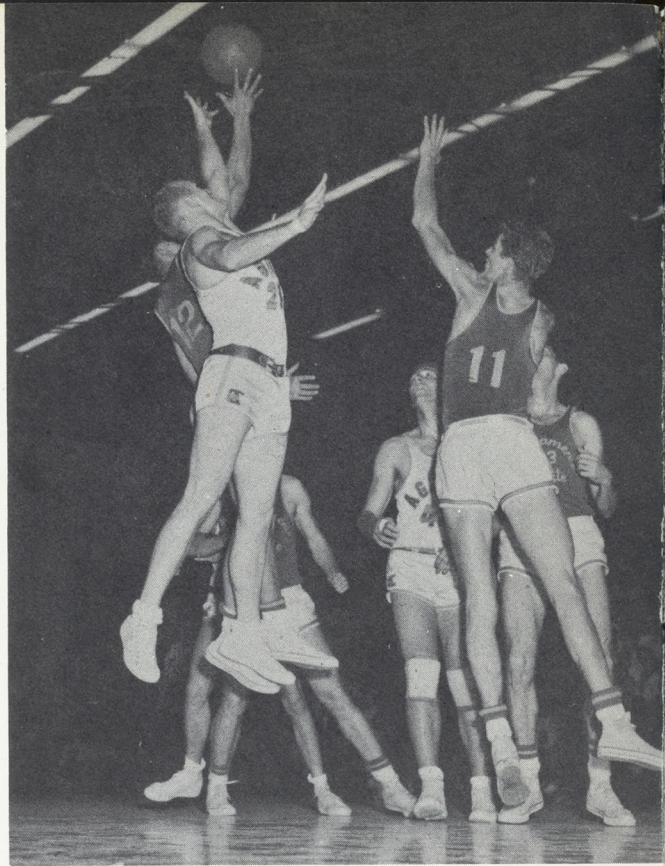

Carl Youngstrum of the Alumni goes to the floor to recover the casaba as Tom Brian and Regis Hurley look on.

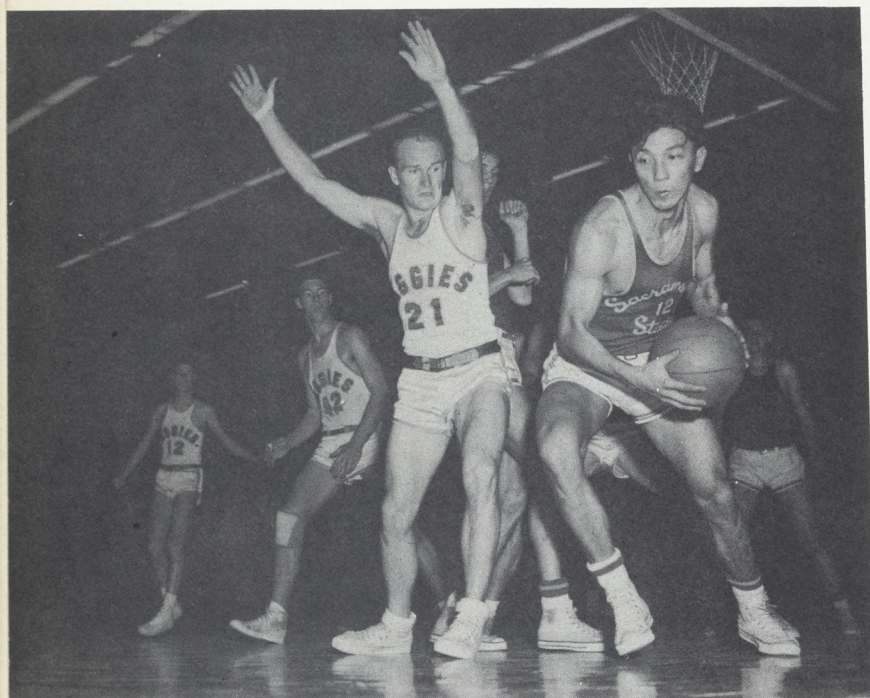

Tom Brian goes up for a jump shot against the San Francisco State Gators.

George Goto stretched for a rebound which helped the Hornets decision the Cal Aggies.

LEAGUE GAMES

George Goto is shown coming out with the ball in the Hornet-Cal Aggie Contest.

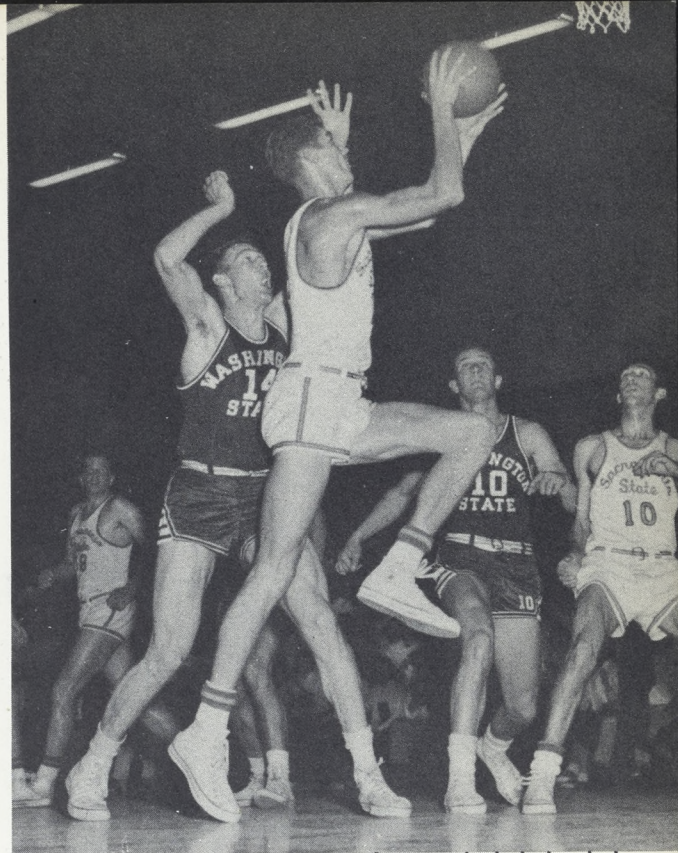

SSC broke into the Far Western Conference this season, finishing fourth in their first year in the six team league.

The Hornets turned in a record of four wins and six losses. They split two with Chico State, league champions, losing 50-45 in the first test and winning 58-44 in the second.

All five Hornets converge on a lone Washington State Cougar as he attempts to move with the ball.

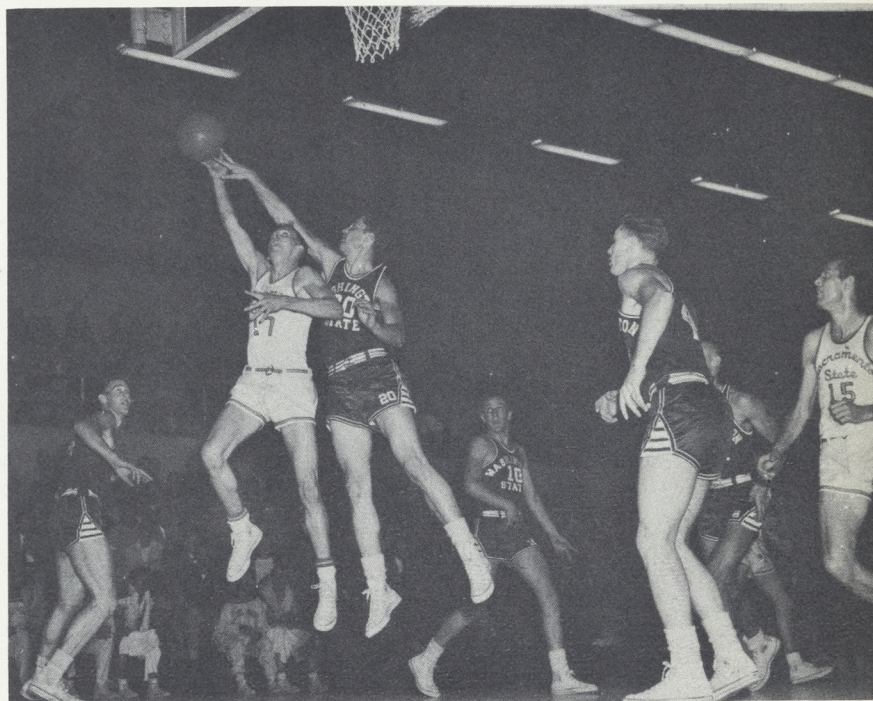

Tom Brian starts a layup which helped the Hornets dump the WSC Cougars.

PCC OPPONENTS

The high point of the Hornet season was a pair of games against opponents from the Pacific Coast Conference.

SSC split the set with that formidable opposition, stunning the Washington State Cougars 45-44 before succumbing to the Oregon Webfoots, runners up in the Northern Division of the PCC, 59-53.

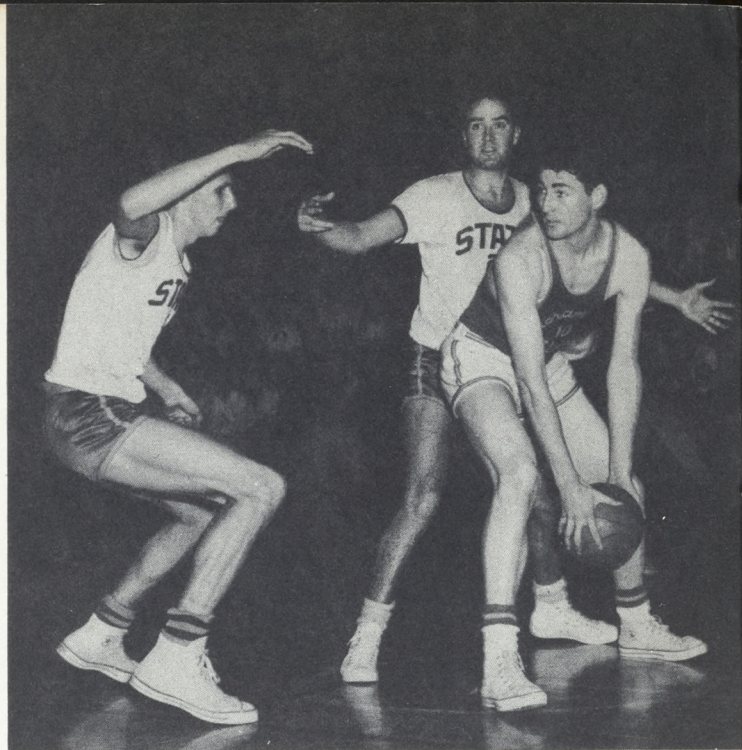

Dwight Dickey's layup attempt is thwarted by a WSC Cougar.

Tom Brian of the Hornets and Al McFayden of the Alumni reach for an elusive rebound.

J. C. Masters tries to pass off after being two timed by the San Francisco State Gators.

The SSC rooting section responds to some fast action on the court.

Yell leaders Earnie Levitt, Orin Stimers, and Nason Hall, put the SSC rooting section through its paces.

Dick Renwick of the Hornets slides back into first base beating an attempted pickoff by the COP Tigers.

A Hornet pitch eludes a COP batsman. Catcher is Bob Nelson of SSC.

BASEBALL

A Hornet and the ball arrive almost simultaneously at first base. The action took place during the SSC-Alumni contest.

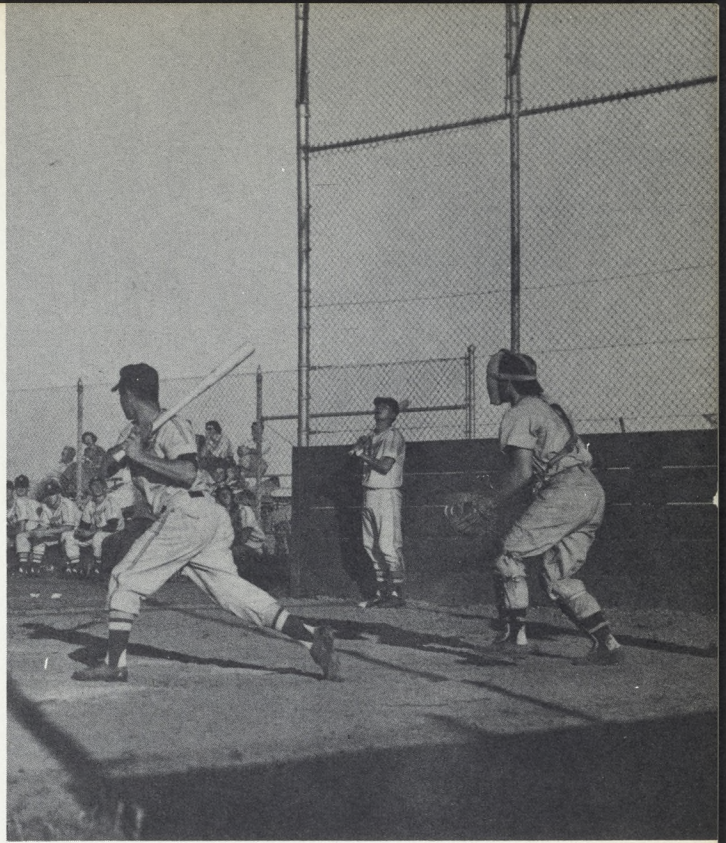

Led by the pitching of two talented right handers, George Larsen and J. C. Masters, and the hitting of freshman second baseman Doc Haskell, Hal Wolf's baseballers enjoyed a successful season this year.

This was probably one of the bst SSC basball nines compiled thus far.

A COP runner slides into third base ahead of the throw to Hornet third sacker, Atch Pedretti.

Sam Pullaro, Hornet shortstop, takes a cut at the ball in the SSC-COP Contest.

MY THANKS

To all who helped with the production and distribution of our 1954 Statesman . . . to Roy Keilholtz, and his troop at Sacramento Lithograph Company . . . to Silvius and Schoenbackler, for being extremely helpful with our cover and binding problems . . . to Sirlin Studios for the excellent senior portraits . . . to the photography staff, especially Rod, for having so much patience, and to O'B, Jack and Ed . . . to Dr. Parker, who had many wise suggestions, and yet always let us have a free hand with the book . . . to the business staff, headed by Wilma, Clayton and John, who put the Statesman in the black for another year . . . to Doris, for being a really wonderful associate editor . . . to Norm, who did such a thorough job on the sports section . . . to Kay, June, April and Diana who worked long and hard on their individual parts of the book . . . to Jerry and Nancy, for giving us such enthusiastic publicity in the Hornet and Union . . . to all who helped push our sales: Alice, Jim, June, Mrs. Koontz and the bookstore staff, and the Hornet staff . . . to my husband, Ted, who helped me over the rough spots during the year with much patience . . . the all of the students in the ASSSC, for putting your whole hearted support behind all of our efforts.

Darlene
